NEW This Season

The “Adult Unlimited, Mountain Meadow, Senior, and Super Senior Season Passes” will be printed on renewable media.

This means that next season when you pay for your season pass all you need to do is sign the liability release and your are on your way to the slopes.

No matter how you pay for your pass; on site, online, over the phone or postal mail once you submit your signed liability release to the season pass office at Bear Valley Mountain your pass purchased this year (10/11) will be activated for next season (11/12).

It will no longer be necessary to wait in line for

- New pictures.
- New pass cards.

These Season Pass options will still have to be updated every season

- Resort Charge
- Season Pass Insurance

Season Pass Renewal: Season pass renewal will be offered to any individual who purchased, or had purchased for them an Adult unlimited, Mountain Meadow, Senior or Super Senior season pass between 3/16/2010 and the spring season pass launch 2011. This does not include passes purchased at discounted rates, through auctions, won at events, trade shows, or anywhere other than the Season Pass Office at Bear Valley Mountain.

No season pass renewal will be complete without a signed liability release for the 2011/2012 winter season. Liability releases need to be signed each season by everyone purchasing a pass that is 18 years of age or older. Once the signed liability release is received by the season pass office at Bear Valley Mountain the season pass card from the previous season will be reactivated.
